1. What the heck is this “Cowboy Action Shooting” that I hear everyone talking about at work?

2. Is this sport for me? Would I fit in? Can my wife and kids do this, too?

Whoa! Slow down there, Pardner! That’s three questions!

We can tell that you’re excited about this ... and that’s a good first sign that you’re a prime candidate for Cowboy Action Shooting.

This sport was started by a group of guys who wanted to “play cowboy” like they did when they were kids and who also wanted to not get too serious about the competition end of it.

We’ve got individuals ... and families ... from all walks of life in this sport ... business men and women, musicians, cooks, policemen, teachers, teenagers, photographers, families, grandmothers, ... to name a few.

A member of our club, Black Vela (SASS 33223), did a series of interviews with other Cowboy shooters that I think would helpful. Published in our semi-monthly newsletter, his articles are entitled, “What’s Your Story?” Click on the “link” below to see what Cowboy shooters are like.

3. How “big” is this sport? Is it only in Texas?

It’s pretty darned big.

Our club is one of hundreds located throughout these United States of America.

A really, really good website to visit is the Single Action Shooting Society (SASS).

<http://www.sassnet.com/>

There are clubs throughout the world ... Australia, Germany, New York, ...

A lot of the clubs get visitors from around the world who have always heard about Cowboy, who have seen John Wayne and Clint Eastwook in cowboy movies, and who really don’t have an opportunity in their own countries to enjoy shooting sports.

4. Is there a “How to Look More Like that Handsome Paco Bill” school in the works?

Blacky sez, “Yes, but it’s more like a clinic ... whereas you would need treatment ... like a shot ... or a pill.”

5. Does Handsome Blacky Vela feel threatened by the sheer magnitude of Paco Bill’s handsomeness?

Blacky sez, “I don’t think that ‘handsomeness’ is an actual word ...”

Scurrilous John sez, “No, it’s really not a word, ... but it could be.”
